HONORARY DEGREE

MACK CARISON BRANHAM, JR.

DOCTOR OF LAWS

Dr. Mack C. Branham, Jr., distinguished Clemson alumnus, educator, decorated military veteran and native South Carolinian, has served as president of Lutheran Theological Southern Seminary in Columbia for the past nine years.

Dr. Branham received his B.S. degree at Clemson in education in June 1953. He graduated as a distinguished Army ROTC cadet and was commissioned into the infantry. However, the month before graduation, a truce had been declared in the Korean War, and he was given a one year deferment from service.

He decided to enroll at the Seminary in his native Columbia where he would return almost 30 years later to serve as its president. Feeling a strong commitment to serve his tour of duty, he entered the Army in 1954 for two years, returning to the Seminary in 1956 to complete two final years of study.

After receiving his Master of Divinity degree from Lutheran Theological Southern Seminary in 1958, Dr. Branham served as pastor of a Lutheran parish in Lexington, S. C. In 1959 he entered the Air Force Chaplain Service and completed Air Force Chaplain School in Texas. This began a series of pastoral assignments which have taken him to many states and foreign countries, including the Republic of Vietnam, where he served as chaplain at Cam Ranh Bay during the height of the war in 1968-69.

Dr. Branham also has been chaplain at Sheppard Air Force Base, Texas, Wright-Patterson AFB, Ohio, Chateauroux Air Station in France, and senior chaplain at Charleston AFB.

In 1979 at age 48, he retired from the Air Force to make the transition to a new career in higher education. That same year, Dr. Branham joined the administration at Lutheran Theological Southern Seminary as Vice President for Administration. He was named President in 1982. Since 1981 he also has served as a professor of pastoral care at the Seminary.

Dr. Branham also holds a Master of Sacred Theology degree from Lutheran Theological Southern Seminary (1963); Master of Science in business administration from George Washington University (1968); and the Doctor of Philosophy degree from Arizona State University (1974). He is a distinguished graduate of the Air Force Institute of Technology (1968).

His military honors and awards include the Legion of Merit, Bronze Star Medal, Vietnam Service Medal, Vietnam Campaign Medal with Five Stars, Academic Achievement Award, Meritorious Service Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster, Commendation Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster, and the National Defense Service Medal with Star.

His professional affiliations include the American Association for Marriage and Family Therapy, clinical member; he is a licensed marriage and family therapist in the State of South Carolina; and was a convener, Lutheran Seminary Presidents and Deans, 1986-87. Dr. Branham is listed in "Who's Who in Religion," 1984-92; "Who's Who in Education," 1991-92; and "Who's Who in the Southeast," 1989-92.

His achievements have brought great credit to himself, his alma mater, and to South Carolina and are held in the highest regard by his fellow alumni. It is a privilege to honor Dr. Mack Branham with the presentation of this honorary degree.

The President's Award

WILFRED P. TIENCKEN

WILFRED P. TIENCKEN

From designing a retaining wall for Boulder Dam in Colorado to gauging streams in Indiana to handling real estate for the United States Department of the Navy in Washington, D.C., Wilfred Patjens Tiencken has dedicated his life to technological advancement and the service of his country.

Throughout his busy career, both in engineering and law, this 1929 Clemson graduate has kept his alma mater in his thoughts. He has returned for reunions whenever possible, has served as president of the Clemson alumni club in the nation's capital, and is currently president of the class of 1929.

After his retirement, he and his wife, Helen (now deceased), wanted to help the University and honor Mrs. Tiencken's father, George Swygert, also a Clemson engineer. They endowed The George Swygert, Class of 1898, and Wilfred P. Tiencken, Class of 1929 Scholarship to recruit and retain the best students in the College of Engineering.

Mr. Tiencken believes that education will keep America ahead in this changing world. He continues to build on that belief through his generous support for Clemson. For outstanding vision, dedication and contribution, we are proud to present The President's award to Wilfred P. Tiencken.

The Academic Procession

The Academic procession is composed of the faculty, staff, officers, Trustees, and honored guests of the University. Faculty enter by college and each college is preceded by its marshal, a senior faculty member, with the college baton, described under University Regalia.

Following the marshal is the college banner bearer. Each banner is a combination of colors that declare the disciplines taught in that college. These colors, which were established by the American Council on Education, are as follows:

College	Colors	Discipline
Agriculture	Maize	Agriculture
Architecture	Brown Lilac	Fine Arts Architecture
Commerce & Industry	Copper Drab	Economics Business
Education	Light Blue	Education
Engineering	Orange	Engineering
Forest & Recreation Resources	Russet Sage Green	Forestry Recreation Education
Liberal Arts	Dark Blue White Cream	Philosophy Letters & Humanities Social Science
Library	Lemon	Library
Nursing	Apricot	Nursing
Sciences	Golden Yellow	Sciences
Staff	Purple & Orange	Academic Support

Collegiate faculty follow their banner in order of academic rank wearing academic costumes of medieval origin. Those who have received their degrees from institutions outside the United States wear costumes specified by the awarding institutions.

The academic costumes of faculty whose degrees are from United States' institutions are specified by a uniform code maintained by the American Council on Education. Caps are black and are usually mortar boards with tassels. Doctors of Philosophy wear gold tassels usually of metallic thread; other degrees wear black or discipline colors.

The bachelors' gown is simple and black with long, pointed sleeves. Masters' gowns, also black, are longer than bachelors. Older gowns have sleeves that terminate at the elbow while those since 1960 have sleeves extended to the wrist. Doctors' gowns are full, with bell-like sleeves. The front is marked by velvet panels and the sleeves are marked by three velvet bars. While most gowns are black with black velvet, one variation is to replace black velvet with velvet in the discipline color. A second variation is a colored gown usually of the university's colors.

All hoods specify the level of degree, the discipline studied and the awarding institution. First, degree level is signified by the size of the hood with bachelors' smallest, masters' larger, and doctors' quite large and of a different shape. Clemson does not award hoods to bachelors. The width of the velvet trim also conveys the degree. Secondly, the discipline is indicated by the color of the trim edging the hood to form the throat over the gown. Finally, the color of the hood's lining specifies the awarding institution. The colors are displayed in combinations that are drawn from heraldry. Notice that the Clemson University hood is lined with purple through which is an orange chevron (a "V"). Although many combinations are duplicated by dozens of institutions, Clemson is presently the only institution with that registered combination.

The officers, trustees, and honored guests wear academic, ecclesiastical, or military regalia as set forth by their professions. They are preceded by the University marshal. Clad in a gown of office in gold and purple, the marshal wears no hood and bears the University mace. At the ceremony's close, the faculty do not exit as a part of the recessional but are dismissed, along with students and guests, when the marshal leaves the coliseum.

The University Regalia

The University mace is the symbolic representation of the whole of Clemson University and must be present at any convocation where the University, through its delegated members, is acting officially. At any official convocation such as commencement, the University Marshal, carrying the mace, precedes the President into the assembly. The mace rests before the President's chair or speaker's stand throughout the ceremony, and its removal from the assembly at the close of a convocation is symbolic of the official withdrawal of the University and, thus, the close of the proceedings.

The decorative design of Clemson's mace is derived from the ceremonial maces carried by heads of state and church in the Middle Ages. Its basic club-like shape, however, is much more ancient, probably going back to man's pre-history. It is made of walnut wood and silver, with the seal of the University in gold and the University colors represented by insets of cornelian (orange) and amethyst (purple). Amethyst is also the state stone of South Carolina.

The Presidential chain and seal is symbolic of the authority vested in the office of president by the governing body of the University. Only the University President may wear it, and while wearing it he speaks for the whole body of the institution. Clemson's chain and seal are made of silver and gold, and cornelian and amethyst.

The batons of the college marshals also descend from medieval "staffs of office" which were carried by the senior members of departments of state or church. They display the seal of the University and the symbolic color of the discipline to which the college belongs. Clemson's batons are made of walnut wood and silver with the various disciplines inset with enamel.

The University regalia were designed and executed by Mr. Robert Ebendorf. Mr. Ebendorf is twice winner of the Tiffany Award and one of the most acclaimed goldsmiths of our era. The enamel plaques for the batons were executed by the late Professor Marshall C. Bell, and the lapidary work was executed by the late Mr. C. C. Wilson of Clemson University.

Coat of Arms

Designed by Clemson University graphic artist, Connie Floyd, the coat of arms represents the historic three-fold mission of this institution: teaching, research and service.

Pictured on the cover, the coat of arms is divided into three parts. The bottom contains a series of open books representing the concept of teaching as the basis of the land-grant university. The white of the books and the purple of the background designate the teaching mission of the University as it is achieved through undergraduate and graduate instruction.

The upper portion of the shield contains two sets of calipers and wheat sheaves illustrating the measurement system for research, as well as Clemson's tradition in agriculture and Extension. The three symbols — the books, calipers and wheat sheaves — also represent the humanities, technology and science.

The entire shield is joined by a small orange center shield bearing a white tiger mask symbolizing the abiding spirit of Clemson.

The crest is a gold palmetto tree, which emphasizes Thomas Green Clemson's desire that Clemson become "the people's university" for South Carolinians. It rises from a band of purple, orange, white and gold. The outer pair of colors, purple and gold, are the official colors of the University; the inner pair, orange and white, are Clemson's student colors.

Historical Statement

Clemson University is named for Thomas Green Clemson (1807-1888), who left the bulk of his estate to the State of South Carolina for the founding of the institution.

Thomas Clemson was born in Philadelphia in 1807 and educated at the Royal School of Mines in Paris (1828-1832). His early profession was that of a mining engineer; but circumstances diverted his interests into politics and the life of a southern planter, and he soon became an enthusiastic advocate of scientific agriculture. He had a career as a diplomat (charge d'affairs to Belgium, 1844-1852) and served as the first Superintendent of Agricultural Affairs in Washington (1860). As a scientist he published numerous articles in the fields of mining, chemistry, and agriculture. His varied activities included his assistance in the founding of the Maryland Agricultural College, his support of the Morrill Act, his leadership in South Carolina after the Civil War, and his part in founding Clemson University.

Thomas Clemson was the son-in-law of South Carolina's John C. Calhoun, a political figure of national importance during the first half of the nineteenth century. Mr. Calhoun's home, Fort Hill, is preserved on the Clemson Campus as a national shrine.

The academic program at Clemson College began in 1893 with an enrollment of 446. The first "college prospectus" announced only two four-year curricula, supplemented by two two-year preparatory courses. Today the University has ten major academic units. These are the College of Agricultural Sciences, the College of Architecture, the College of Commerce and Industry, the College of Education, the College of Engineering, the College of Forest and Recreation Resources, the College of Liberal Arts, the College of Nursing, the College of Sciences, and the Graduate School.

The institution is an accredited member of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools; various curricula are accredited by the National Architectural Accrediting Board, National League for Nursing, Society of American Foresters, American Assembly of Collegiate Schools of Business, Accreditation Board for Engineering and Technology, and National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education.

Clemson is a land-grant institution. As such, it is engaged not only in its primary academic program, but does extensive research at the main campus and at five agricultural experiment stations located in the State. The University is also heavily committed to a varied program of public service, including the work of agricultural extension which has professional personnel located in each of the State's counties.

CLEMSON ALMA MATER

A. C. Corcoran, '19

Where the Blue Ridge yawns its greatness,
Where the Tigers play;
Here the sons of dear old Clemson
Reign supreme alway.

Chorus

Dear old Clemson, we will triumph
And with all our might,
That the Tiger's roar may echo
O'er the mountain height.

We will dream of great conquests,
For our past is grand,
And her sons have fought and conquered
Every foreign land.

Where the mountains smile in grandeur
O'er the hill and dale.
Here the Tiger lair is nestling
Swept by storm and gale.

We are brothers strong in manhood,
For we work and strive;
And our alma mater reigneth
Ever in our lives.
